L am doing an internship in the same organization and along with formal education, am also learning informal education methods. We have already implemented one project in Spain, and in the future we plan to conduct similar activities in Germany as well as in other EU countries. Of course, it was not easy to win this program, but studying at IBSU gave me the confidence and motivation to face such difficulties. I should especially mention the experience of studying my program that is instructed in English. This is the main criteria, with the help of which I easily adapted to the new environment. Thanks to IBSU and the entire academic staff for that.

My course mates are very helpful, we are having group worked activities almost every week and we meet up and work together on different interesting topics and deepen our knowledge with each others' help. The courses I am taking this semester for example "Introduction to United States Law" are very helpful in real life and helps me in daily situations."
